France Distrusts Rearmed Germany

Still Hope For Treaty Agreement

Bonn, Germany, May 24 — (AP) — New demands by France today were reported holding up final agreement on a West German peace contract and a unified European army. But there were indications that the western Big Three foreign ministers may be overcoming French objections in their closed sessions going on here.

Secretary of State Acheson's official press spokesman said tonight: "As far as the Americans are concerned, no Frenchman has ever told us they would not sign (the two accords). We still feel it will work out and that a peace settlement will be signed Monday."

Further encouragement was given in a statement by a French cabinet official in Paris that "under present conditions, signature of the accords could come at the appointed time."

A main French demand was for a strong British-American security guarantee against any chance of a rearmed Germany breaking out of the protected European arm framework and again embarking on conquest. Acheson's spokesman said progress had been made on this hot issue and that a "satisfactory solution is expected."

Ask Security Pledge

Late tonight an authoritative French spokesman put it this way: France is asking Acheson and the British foreign minister to pledge her a guarantee of security against possible German turncoat aggression. If they get the promise, the French will sign both pacts, but if the British parliament and U.S. congress fail to back it up, then the French national assembly can refuse to ratify.

Earlier an American spokesman had said the British-American guarantee had been agreed to in substance but a question remained whether it could be put into a form acceptable to the French parliament without prior approval by the U.S. congress. At any rate, the U.S. spokesman added, no U.S. guarantee would be announced in Bonn.

Status Of Troops

Another French question on the status of French troops in Germany has been turned over to a committee of experts. As an ally of West Germany in the proposed European army, France would not want to retain present occupation privileges, such as low-cost housing.

First, news to reach here on the French objections came today in reports from Paris that the cabinet had told Schuman not to sign the two pacts unless French demands were met.

Aside from making a peace arrangement with West Germany, the big goal of the Allied statesmen is creation of a six-nation defense army of close to a million men, including 400,000 Germans.

The timing of the French moves gave their objections the appearance of a diplomatic squeeze play.

Adenauer's government, which had troubles at home in agreeing to the terms it did, had completed all arrangements to sign the treaty ceremoniously Monday morning. Illustrating the troubles, the nine states of West Germany today snubbed a federal proposal that they close the schools Monday in celebration.

Warn Of Civil War

The Russians and their East German followers were active and talking as if the contract signing would bring on a new crisis in east-west affairs. German Communists have warned of Civil War and death for any chances of Germany unification.

The Russians slammed shut five more road crossings, leaving only four major routes for the booming highway freight business between isolated West Berlin and West Germany. The British lodged a quick protest. Allied officials said a new plot to snap West Berlin's lifelines may be in full swing.

Allied troops and the German police of West Berlin braced for trouble from a reported "invasion" of Communist roadies at 15 points along the Soviet sector border, not nothing developed. Later they said they were informed the Putsch had been called off until Monday, so it could be timed with developments in Bonn.

ARREST BAD CHECK PASSER

Pasadena, Calif., May 24 — (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Winans Astin, 42, described by police as the nation's "most wanted" woman bad check passer, was arrested today.

Detective Joseph E. Welsh said she is believed to have cashed an average of $2,000 monthly in leading hotels and women's apparel shops since she was released from Alderson, W. Va., women's prison last January.

Her only permanent address, she said, is the prison at Alderson from which she is on parole.

Tornado Hits Scott Air Base, No Injuries

Scott Air Force Base, Ill., May 24 — (AP) — A tornado damaged three planes seriously but injured no one tonight, an air force spokesman reported.

Capt. Charles J. Muehl, base public information officer, said two men on duty saw a funnel-shaped cloud come from the southwest and cross the airport about 7:30 p.m. (CDT).

Two C-47 cargo planes and one B-25 light bomber were damaged extensively, he said. Several fighter planes suffered minor damage.

The base was closed to air operations for several hours because of wreckage on the runways.

Demo Leader To Fight For Aid Bill

Washington, May 24 — (AP) — Senator Connally of Texas, Democratic foreign policy leader in the Senate, said today he would conduct an all-out fight for a foreign aid bill bigger than the House voted.

The House, with a coalition of Republicans and a number of Democrats in control, last night passed a $6,162,000,000 measure to strengthen foreign nations against Communism. This was $1,737,000,000 less than the $7,900,000,000 President Truman asked.

Two Senate committees have approved a billion dollar reduction in the Truman program, bringing it down to $6,900,000,000 and Connally will fight to prevent further cuts in the Senate debate opening Monday.

Advocates of deeper cuts declared the solvency of the United States is a main consideration in erecting defenses against Communism, and that the bill contains plenty of water which can be squeezed out.

The administration was putting on a big campaign to persuade the House cuts. W. J. Brennan, deputy director of the Mutual Security Agency, held a news conference to declare bitterly:

"The House did a wonderful job yesterday—it voted for defense, it voted for economic aid, and it voted for economy and you just can't do all that."

A slam-bang Senate floor battle with political overtones, appeared certain.

Sen. Taft of Ohio, front-running entry for the Republican presidential nomination, has announced that he would vote to cut foreign aid to an even 6 billions, or 900 million below the present Senate total.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief Taft opponent for the GOP nomination, has publicly warned against cutting funds deeper than the Senate bill.

Most but not all of the Republican senators sponsoring the billion or half-billion slashes also are backing Taft. In addition to Welker, they include Senators Young (ND), Dirksen (Ill.), Ecken (Mont.), Bricker (Ohio), Bennett (Utah), Dworker (Idaho), Butler (Neb.), Butler (Md.), Malone (Nev.) and Jenner (Ind.).

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), who led the successful drive for cuts in the House, also is a Taft booster.

May Choose State As Site Of Million Dollar Road Test

Springfield, Ill., May 24 — (AP) — An Illinois site is being considered for a year-long, million dollar road test planned by the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Frank N. Barker, chief Illinois highway engineer, today said the proposed construction would be a five or six mile four-lane stretch along U. S. route 6 near Ottawa.

Five other states are offering sites considered best suited to meet the climatic, soil, frost and topographic conditions desired.

The road, containing a variety of highway designs and thicknesses, would be subjected to continuous traffic of all kinds in increasing intensity until it collapsed.

States and the federal government would be invited to share the cost.

BRITAIN DEVELOPS ROCKETS

Leamington, Eng., May 24 — (AP) — Britain has made "remarkable progress" in developing guided rockets, supply Minister Duncan Sandys said today.

He told a conference of guided rocket scientists and experts that the government has given "super priority" to speedy development of the new weapon which he said may some day supersede more orthodox armaments.

Sandys added that a whole new guided rocket industry has been set up in the past few years.

Tag Chinese Reds, Real Communists

Washington, May 24 — (AP) — A 1945 army intelligence report which tagged the Chinese Reds as bona fide, Moscow-directed Communists was published tonight by the Senate internal security subcommittee.

The report noted that some observers then contended the Chinese Communists were agrarian reformers or Democrats and not real Communists. It said the investigation failed to bear this out.

It also concluded "there is reason to believe that Soviet Russia plans to create Russian-dominated areas in Manchuria, Korea and probably North China."

The 150-page document, prepared before Japan's surrender in World War II, gave a detailed account of the history of the Chinese Communists, including their political and military activities.

It also discussed the possibility of a postwar coalition government in China—a subject that later was to become a hot political issue in this country—but set out no definite conclusion.

The document originally was classified as secret but this label was taken off August 23, 1949. The Senate committee, however, said it does not believe it has previously been made available to the public.

The senators issued it in connection with the year-long investigation they have been conducting in a search for any Communist influences on U. S. Far Eastern policies.

The report was completed about six months before Gen. George C. Marshall went to China in an unsuccessful effort to effect peace between the Nationalists and Communists through a coalition government and end the civil war.

Cook Grand Jury To Investigate Phantom Payrollers

Chicago, May 2 — (AP) — The state attorney's office said today a new investigation of phantom public payrollers will be started Monday by the Cook county (Chicago) grand jury.

Prosecutors said the inquiry will deal with reports that at least two supervisory employees of the city of Chicago obtained thousands of dollars of city funds through payroll irregularities.

An investigation of Cook county payrolls, concluded last month, resulted in indictments against William N. Erickson, president of the county board, and two associates, and State Representative James J. Adduci.

All are charged with conspiracy to defraud the county. They are awaiting trial on the charges.

Assistant State's Attorney Edward Finnegan said the current inquiry involves two employees in the department of public works who allegedly obtained $3,880 by adding two mythical workers to department payrolls.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said the two employees, both veteran city workers, had refunded the money after investigators uncovered the alleged fraud.

Hewitt said one of the workers, a $5,000-a-year assistant supervisor, has resigned from the department. The other, 31 years in the department, is being sought for questioning by prosecutors.

No charges have been filed against the men.

Withholding Tax Critic Will Run For US Senate

Hartford, Conn., May 24 — (AP) — Vivien Kellems entered the race today for the seat in the United States senate now held by Senator William Benton (D-Conn.).

She announced she would run on the Independent Republican party ticket. The party was formed two years ago by a group of registered Republicans opposed to some candidates on the regular GOP slate.

Miss Kellems, who runs a cable grip factory in Stonington, has attracted wide attention with her frequent criticism of Democratic administration policies, particularly of the withholding tax provision in the federal income tax. For a while, she refused to withhold taxes from her workers' pay.

Benton is unopposed for the Democratic nomination. Republicans will name their candidate at their state convention next Tuesday.

ECCENTRICITY EXPECTED

London, May 24 — (AP) — Derek Walker, 21-year-old typist, was sentenced to a year in jail today on charges of falsifying accounts and stealing 40 pounds ($112) from his employers, the Eccentric club.

Constitution Drafters Foresaw Rights Clash

BULLETIN

London, Sunday, May 25 — (AP) — A Soviet Union note to the United States today proposed four-power talks on an all-German peace treaty without delay "despite existing differences."

The Russian note, broadcast by Moscow radio, replied to American, British and French notes of May 13. The Allies said at that time they were willing to join in talks on unifying Germany if the Soviets first agreed to free all-German elections.

Tear Gas Subdues Convict Riots In Idaho Prison

Boise, Idaho, May 24 — (AP) — Three hundred convicts rioted at the Idaho Penitentiary for more than four hours today before they were routed from their barricaded building with tear gas.

They broke windows, smashed furniture and set fire to recreation hall and a cellblock under construction but they finally started filing back to their cells late in the day.

"It looks like things are nearly settled now," said Warden L. E. Clapp who refused all the inmates' demands. "The guys are all sticking together," their spokesman told Warden Clapp at the prison wall shortly before the riot appeared to be ending.

A convict set fire to the recreation hall where the inmates barricaded themselves but two other convicts extinguished it. Another fire broke out later.

The crying, choking men stumbled from the gas-filled hall as heavily armed police and guards patrolled the prison walls.

"If anyone tries to go over the wall, stop them," Clapp told the guards.

Clapp reported the riot broke out when guards locked up four of five ringleaders who he said, attempted to take over the duties of a prison grievance committee.

Clapp said that tension inside the prison had built up as a result of differences among the inmates as to whether "radical" in the yard or members of the grievance committee were going to dominate.

"We attempted to lock up five ringleaders in the recreation hall and they in turn were joined by the other prisoners, many of whom are actually in sympathy with our program," the warden said.

Corn Borer Threat Not Serious With Present Weather

Champaign, Ill., May 24 — (AP) — Corn borers will not be a serious threat to Illinois farms this year if present weather and crop conditions continue, a University of Illinois entomologist reported today.

Dr. G. C. Decker said, however, "It is quite possible the overall corn borer population in the state may show an upward trend by September."

Decker's observations were made in the first of weekly bulletins on corn borers and other insect pests to be issued this summer by the university's College of Agriculture and the Illinois Natural History Survey, he said.

"Corn borer infestations throughout the state are generally lighter than those prevailing in 1950 and 1951. It is improbable that the first generation borer infestation will be either extensive or severe."

"Under favorable conditions some of the earliest plantings which came up before the recent cold spell may develop infestations that will warrant insecticide treatment. However, the widespread use of insecticides on field corn is not anticipated."

Surveys made last September showed that the borer population going into hibernation was only one-half to two-thirds what it had been in the fall of 1950. Winter losses were slightly higher than normal and at the present time the number of borers and pupae in the corn fields preparing to emerge as moths in the next month is about half what it was a year ago. Corn planting is generally well ahead of last year. Some April plantings are up but germination and growth of later plantings has been delayed.

Decker also gave these reports on other insects:

"Green bugs have been reported as present to abundant in oats and wheat in central Illinois."

"Sweet clover weevils are reported as abundant and seriously damaging many sweet clover seedings. The next few days will be the last chance to effectively protect new seedings."

CHOOSE FUTURE FARMERS

Springfield, Ill., May 24 — (AP) — Winners in 12 State Future Farmer of America contests were chosen today by the Illinois foundation from among 1,700 high school students who entered.

Plaques will be awarded to the 12 at the state convention in Champaign June 5. The state star farmer will be chosen then.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Truman, the Supreme Court, Congress and the American people are now going through a process regarding the steel dispute which seems actually to have been envisioned by the drafters of the constitution.

The evidence has been dug out of the long-hidden papers of James Wilson, Philadelphia lawyer and member of the drafting committee, by Richard Barry, former New York Times reporter who is working on the third edition of his book, "Mr. Rutledge of South Carolina."

John Rutledge was chairman of the drafting committee, which also included Edmund Randolph, the governor of Virginia.

Rutledge was perhaps the only man in America who had ever been, by legislative authority, a virtual dictator. During the revolution he was granted "all power" by the assembly of South Carolina. He remained in this position for 54 days, until on his own motion his right to interfere with trial by jury was removed, and he was required to consult with the state council on important affairs "when convenient."

This sort of constitutional dictatorship had lasted for two years.

Years later this experience remained an important factor with him.

He assigned Randolph to write the first draft of the constitution. Wilson and Randolph wanted the powers of the president sharply circumscribed even in wartime. The third and controlling draft of the document is among the Wilson papers, showing where Rutledge struck out the timid phraseology with regard to wartime power and made the president "commander in chief."

Then came the matter of peace-time powers.

Wilson submitted several drafts closely defining the president's powers. Slowly he and Randolph were worn by Rutledge. They boiled it down finally to the single phrase about the president being the chief executive.

Rutledge's argument, Wilson reported at the time, was that the definition of "executive" should be made only when the powers are at stake. "Anything less is unworthy of the powers," he said. If the president errs, there is congress and the judiciary to correct.

There, in the Wilson papers which were not unearthed for 10 years, seems to be a dependable statement of what was in the minds of the constitution's framers.

The framers obviously foresaw that the president should have the right to act in emergency. The definition of an emergency, and how far the president might go under it, was left for the day of need. The president can act, the congress and the court shall decide if he is right.

In the particular issue of today, the steel matter, it will be recalled that the drafters of the constitution, Rutledge in his actions in South Carolina both as dictator and later chief justice, the entire foundations of America, were strongly predicated upon the common law brought from England as the basis of protection of both human and property rights.

Strike Agreement Of Western Union Becomes Doubtful

Washington, May 24 — (AP) — Acceptance by striking Western Union workers of a proposed settlement formula became in doubt tonight as early returns from nationwide voting among the 30,000 telegraph employees.

A tabulation by the Associated Press of available returns in approximately a score of cities showed 1,966 workers against accepting the settlement, with 1,701 voting for acceptance.

The 52-day strike with continue until the outcome of the voting is known. Deadline for ballots is 6 p.m. E.S.T. Sunday.

Potato Shortage Reaches Peak

Washington, May 24 — (AP) — Farm officials said today the nationwide shortage of potatoes has reached its peak and that housewives should be able to buy normal quantities within three weeks.

While no official forecast of this year's production has been made yet, agriculture department experts estimate that between 20 and 25 million bushels of early crop potatoes should move to market in June.

The nation consumes an average of about 23½ million bushels a month.

The shortage developed because: (1) Production of late 1951-crop potatoes—those grown in northern states for the nation's supplies for the following winter and spring—was short.

(2) Harvest of this year's early crop—grown in southern states and California—has been later than usual.

Now that the shortage soon may be over, officials are casting an eye ahead for a possible repeat appearance a year from now. Surveys made before the planting season indicated that there would be less land seeded to potatoes this year than last.

Russian Intentions Concern Gen. Clark

Tempo Steps Up In Taft, Ike Race

By The Associated Press

Gen. Eisenhower won over Senator Taft by a five-to-one margin in Washington state last (Saturday) night in a prolonged battle for 24 votes to the Republican presidential nominating convention.

Eisenhower won 20 of the 24 seats, Taft got 4.

The Ohio senator got two delegates from each of two of the state's congressional districts. Eisenhower backers got the other four districts plus 12 at large delegates.

The outcome gave Taft a total of 399 delegates in the Associated Press tabulation, against 359 for Gen. Eisenhower. This represents a count of delegates pledged, instructed, or willing to express a first ballot choice.

Delaware Democrats elected six delegates to the Democratic national convention, with one openly supporting Vice President Alben Barkley for the presidential nomination, and the other five delegates uninstructed and unpledged.

Maryland's 24 national Republican convention delegate votes were pledged to Governor Theodore R. McKeldin on the first ballot, but Taft supporters claimed they would get a majority of them after that.

While Taft supporters at the state convention in Baltimore made no open fight to dispute the "favorite son" role of Governor McKeldin, they claimed they had a majority of the delegates elected. McKeldin said he controlled at least 18 but hasn't said which way he might throw them after the first ballot.

A delegate favoring Taft was chosen by Alabama fifth district Republicans at Gadsden. Dr. A. L. Isbell said he would support Taft but would keep an open mind when the national convention gets down to naming the party's presidential nominee.

A slate of 17 convention delegates "100 per cent for Taft" was named by the Foster faction of Georgia's divided Republican party.

Another big batch of presidential nominating delegates will be chosen next week and interest centers mainly on contests between Taft and Eisenhower forces.

Republicans will pick 86 delegates to the Chicago convention, notably in Texas, New Mexico and Connecticut. Democrats will select even more—191—but their presidential nomination race is wide open and few contests are looked for.

Taft-Eisenhower struggles marked selection of a total of 51 GOP delegates in Washington, Minnesota and Maryland yesterday (Sat.) Up until those state conventions, the Ohio senator led Eisenhower 394 to 339 in the Associated Press tabulation of delegate strength. The tabulation is based on delegate pledges and instructions, the preferences of those willing to state a first ballot choice and on candidate concessions.

Fulton Oursler, 59 Religious Author, Editor Dies In N. Y.

New York, May 24 — (AP) — Fulton Oursler, 59, magazine editor and author of the best-selling religious book, "The Greatest Story Ever Told," died of a heart ailment today in his apartment here.

He was a senior editor of the Reader's Digest at the time of his death. He was editor of Liberty magazine from 1931 to 1942.

Oursler had apparently been in good health until stricken with a series of heart attacks last night. A priest was summoned shortly after midnight to give last rites. The author died a few hours later.

He originally was a Baptist and became a Roman Catholic in 1945. Besides writing books and editing, Oursler wrote short stories, motion picture scenarios and radio scripts, and lectured.

Ridgway Spends Weekend In N. Y.

New York, May 2 — (AP) — Gen. Matthew Ridgway flew into New York today for a weekend stopover before proceeding to Paris to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as western defense commander.

Ridgway declined comment on whether he would see Gen. MacArthur. He said he had no plans for any meetings.

Speaker Rayburn May Toss Hat Into Presidential Ring

Washington, May 2 — (AP) — An unprecedented action this week strengthened a belief in congress that House Speaker Sam Rayburn may become a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The action was a speech by Rayburn strongly supporting the administration's foreign-aid program. It was unusual in that for the first time in the memory of correspondents, Rayburn spoke from a prepared text distributed in advance to newsmen.

The Texas legislator seldom addresses the House, never from a prepared text.

His explanation of the deviation from his past practice was that he felt strongly about the foreign-aid issue and wrote a long speech fully expressing his views so they could become a matter of written record.

While Rayburn repeatedly has emphasized that he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination, he has brushed off inquiries about his availability if he were nominated.

His close political advisers say that if Rayburn is nominated, there is no doubt that he would accept.

Red Flags Fly From Kojie Camp

Kojie Island, Korea, Sunday, May 25 — (AP) — Communist prisoners, shouting, singing and waving defiant banners and Red flags from behind barbed wire stockades, gave an unruly greeting to British and Canadian troops on their arrival here today.

Red flags were flying again from at least 12 of the 17 prison stockades. They had been hauled down briefly yesterday.

A company of red-bellied soldiers of the Royal Canadian Regiment were the first ashore to strengthen the Allied hand on this strife-ridden island. The Communists spotted them as the Canadians were loaded into Eighth army trucks.

As the trucks rumbled by, the Reds crowded close to their barbed wire enclosure, broke out their Communist flags and began to sing and shout.

"Quite a good welcome," observed Maj. D. D. Bancroft of Kensington, London, commander of a detachment of the king's Shropshire light infantry. The Communists followed the Canadians ashore.

The Canadians and British soldiers arrived with full battle packs, machine guns and combat ready. The Canadian troops moved into a camp in "Kidnap Valley" near compound 85 and the British detachment was taken to a spot near compound 66.

Then, apparently on orders, the Reds started a demonstration, shouting slogans and waving banners.

Reappearance of the Red flags was another symptom that all was not yet well with the 80,000 self-disciplined North Korean and Chinese prisoners on Kojie. Control is maintained inside the barbed wire enclosures by Red commissars.

On Saturday the flags over 12 stockades were hauled down, but remained fluttering over five enclosures. By late afternoon they had reappeared in all but five of the 17 enclosures.

It was believed that the Communist prisoners had started originally on a message—and then decided it might not be authentic.

The new display of defiance came as Brig. Gen. Haydon Boatner fired his deputy commander and shook up the remaining staff. He was wearing a tough international security force from five nations.

Boatner has given fair warning to die-hard Reds to obey regulations—or face the consequences. The deputy commander, Col. Maurice J. Fitzgerald, has been replaced and assigned to duty as an adviser to the Korean national police.

Truman Ends Visit At West Point

Annapolis, Md., May 24 — (AP) — President Truman left on the yacht Williamsburg at 3:45 p.m. (CST) today after a nice relaxing time at the naval academy, which he would have attended himself except for "a flat eyeball."

The academy band played the national anthem and a 21-gun salute boomed again over the Severn river as the presidential party embarked on an overnight trip back to the capital.

Truman landed this morning for his day off with high officials and academy personnel.

The brigade of midshipmen paraded for him in full dress. Later he saw a baseball game and track meet between Army and Navy teams.

Between times he lunched with the Middies in their mess hall.

"We know the capabilities of the Russians, but we'd like to know more about their intentions."

Summer Costumes Are in High Style

The clever tricks that designers have turned in Summer costumes are exemplified by these fashions. A tweed-like cotton (left) is used by Bonnie Cashin for this dark gray raincoat lined in pale pink cotton and equipped with zippered stowaway pockets. Matching umbrella is gray, lined with pink, and water-repellent cloche is in the gray. Quilted dimity shorts (center) in rosebud pattern are

NEA Woman's Editor

New York—(NEA)—Cottons are, this year, coming of age. There have been signs of growing pains for some seasons now. And, this summer, they're making a debut that's full of surprises.

One of the most important changes in cotton is the way it's being handled. For the first time, many designers are cutting it with the same care they'd give their very finest woolsens or silks. Cotton fashions are designed just as elaborately as the more elegant fabrics.

Denim, for years the stand-by of designers doing play clothes, has suddenly turned sleek and formal. This metamorphosis is accompanied by a marked tendency to seed pearls, rhinestones and satin. There's also an inclination to twinking embroidery. In short, denim is now going to the very best parties.

called "souffles" by their designer, Greta Platty, because of their lightness. They're shown here with broadcloth blouse in solid color. Denim, that workhorse of the past, has turned glamorous this year (right). It's shown in a full-skirted dress for Summer evenings, done in pale gray by Judy and Jill and given an all-over embroidery of rhinestones and pearls. Dress is sashed in gray satin.

There's more cotton news in quilted cottons for summer wear. These are chiefly organdies and dimities so light that they are feathery to the touch. Everybody's talking textured cotton, tweed cotton. And designers are using these new cottons for summer coats, raincoats, suits, dresses, hats and even umbrellas.

Travel Figures

Foundations Stress Beauty

By Alicia Hart
NEA Beauty Editor

To get your travel wardrobe off to a good start, it is important that you give some thought to the foundation garments you will need. For it isn't so much what you wear, but how you wear it that keeps you looking and feeling well-dressed, no matter where you go.

The basic foundation requisites are two girdles, one pantie girdle, corselet, waistlet and five brassieres. Of course, your own individual figure requirements will influence your choices. For example, if your figure is full, you will most likely want more corselets. If you are a junior, however, two pantie girdles and one girdle will probably fill the bill.

For the suit with a snugly fitted jacket, wear a high-waisted girdle to keep your midriff under control. The new torso-fitted middies demand hip control, and a waist-high girdle will give it.

Since full-skirted styles continue to hold their own, a waistlet of some type is a necessity. The narrow cinch may be worn over your regular girdle to pull in your waistline.

As for brassieres, take along two in white or pink, one in black or navy to wear under dark suits and dresses, and one long-line garment and a strapless bra to be worn with strapless and scooped-out necklines.

Another good supplement to your bra wardrobe is the sun bra of pique or denim to wear with shorts and slacks. Your foundations assure a lovely figure regardless of the occasion or costume.

Sunny Days

Baby Needs Outdoor Life

By Alicia Hart
NEA Beauty Editor

Always a problem for the new mother is just how much sun her baby can stand. This, of course, is especially true now, with the coming of summer.

If you are in a quandary as to what to do, here are a few pertinent points which may prove helpful. As soon as your baby weighs 10 pounds, she should spend two or three hours a day outside. This is true even on the hottest days—providing you can find a reasonably cool area. The best hours in sultry weather are in the early morning and late afternoon.

Since the health-giving rays of the sun are absolutely essential to your child's physical development, it is important that you plan the sun bathing periods carefully.

Gradual exposure is the first essential. And even when baby has acquired a good healthy tan, it still is not safe to place her in the direct rays of the sun. Always keep in mind that an extreme sunburn can be just as serious as a heat burn.

To keep your baby as cool and comfortable as possible while she is out and under the sun, place her on a mat or pad on the ground. She will become overheated if she remains in her carriage.

If you are at the beach, the baby should be kept completely out of the sun for the first few days. The reflected glare will in all probability more than furnish enough burning power. As soon as your baby is old enough to move about under her own steam, cover her head with a hat.

SMALL SHEEP

The Isle of Man's four-horned sheep are known as Loaghtan, or mouse-colored, sheep. They live on the hilltops, where the soil is very poor, and, consequently, are small in stature.

Household Hints

Thicken the syrup from canned black cherries and flavor with a little orange rind; add to the drained cherries and chill. Serve with a spoonful of thick sour cream and a topping of freshly-grated nutmeg. If you have one of the attractive wooden nutmeg grinders now available you can pass it and let family and guests add their own topping of this aromatic spice.

When you're adding a double boiler to your kitchen equipment make sure that both parts of the boiler have handles that are convenient to lift.

If you break your plastic eyeglass frames, bind them together with cellophane tape until you can get them fixed.

A good way to use up leftover meat loaf is to cut it in squares and arrange it between layers of spaghetti and tomato sauce in a casserole. Sprinkle the top with grated cheese and bake in a moderate oven until piping hot. Serve with a big bowl of salad and crunchy bread sticks.

Add finely diced unpeeled red apple to crushed pineapple, chill and serve for dessert.

Carrollton Girl Wins Babe Ruth Memorial Award

Carrollton — Miss Shirley Platt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Platt, and Ray Shaw, son of Everett Shaw, were presented the Babe Ruth Sportsmanship award during an assembly program Wednesday morning in the Carrollton high school.
Both are members of the senior class and were selected by a committee from the school which was appointed last fall.
The award program was initiated by the Babe Ruth Foundation in 1949 and more than 3,000 high schools throughout the United States are participating. The program was organized in recognition that sportsmanship and good self-government go hand in hand.
In making the awards the committee said, "In the political community as on the athletic field, interests clash, the rights of others must be recognized and defeat as well as victory must be taken in stride. It is believed that the spirit of sportsmanship developed on our playgrounds can be carried on into adult activities in the community, the state, the nation and even in international relationships."

River In Texas On Rampage; 2 Perish Town Inundated

Hico, Tex., May 24—(P)—Flash flood waters on the Bosque river churned into this north Texas town early today after drowning two persons last night at Stephenville, upstream. Water stood three feet deep in some Hico houses early today and three blocks were inundated, said W. R. Hampton, water maintenance engineer. He said it was the worst flood since 1919 in this town of about 1,250 people.

Swollen by ten-inch rains yesterday, the Bosque almost surrounded Stephenville last night. Many streets and highways were closed and three bridges washed out. Police dispatcher Nath McInroe said Jack Harrell, 19, and Adrian Ballard, 60, drowned. Harrell when his car washed into a creek and Ballard when he was swept off a bridge where he was working.

3 Escape Injury In "Three-Wheeling" Car

Sometimes it's difficult to keep a car on the highway when it has four wheels, but when there are only three, staying right-side-up is plenty tough.

That is the consensus of three Oak Park and Chicago youths who traveled some 200 yards early Saturday morning, not knowing if they would be on this earth many more moments. As it turned out they all escaped without a scratch but experienced considerable shock.

The accident happened shortly after midnight on U.S. Routes 36-54, four miles east of Jacksonville. When a wheel suddenly popped off a 1941 car driven by Jack Kelly of Chicago, Kelly wrestled with the car which was doing about 60 miles an hour.

The careening automobile followed a fairly straight line despite its handicap of only three wheels. Kelly succeeded in slowing it down gradually. It did not leave the right-of-way and was upright when it came to a stop.

Riding on three wheels with Kelly were Jerry Scalise, owner of the car, and Beau J. Milam of Oak Park. The three youths said they are all employed by the American Can Co., at Oak Park.

Scalise said the three were enroute to Atchison, Kansas, to attend the funeral of a friend. The remainder of the trip had to be called off because of the mishap. The marooned travelers attempted to flag down motorists for some time after the accident. The first to go to their assistance was Norbert Kirk, 518 South Church street, a salesman, who brought them to the city.

Inspection of the car showed that it needs a new fender, new axle, new brake bands, and other repairs. It was towed to the Walker Motor Co. garage.

To Hold Open House At School Additions

The additions to the Franklin and Jefferson schools will be open to the public on Monday and Tuesday. Open house at Franklin school will be Monday, May 26 and at Jefferson on Tuesday, May 27. The buildings will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. for inspection and a short program will be held at 8 p.m.

The bonds for the two additions were voted, along with those for the Lincoln school and the high school gymnasium, in October of 1950. The Franklin school addition was started on July 15, 1951 and contains two classrooms. The two classes which started occupying the rooms last week have been conducted in the basement of the building. Every room in the Franklin School is in use and the enrollment of their eleven room averages 27.

The Jefferson School addition was started on March 29, 1951. It contains two classrooms, a principal's office, teachers' room and a cafeteria. The two classrooms are now being occupied by the two first grades. The vacated classrooms have been assigned to two classes—one of which has been occupying a small library and in the other case two teachers have been working in the same room. The enrollment in the thirteen rooms averages 26 pupils.

The two additions were constructed by Due Bros. & Garry, general contractors, and Joe P. Hennessey, plumbing and heating contractor, at a cost of $170,000 for building and equipment. The architectural firm was Smith, Kratz & Strong of Urbana.

AP Suspends TV News Film Service

New York, May 24—(P)—The Associated Press last night announced suspension, effective a week hence, of a recently inaugurated news service on film for television, produced by Spotnews Productions, Inc., and furnished to television stations by the Associated Press.

A joint announcement by the two organizations said: "Uncertainties of the future make it advisable to suspend operations until there can be a clearer picture of the rapidly with which new television stations will come into existence. Indications are that there may be no appreciable expansion in the new station market in the immediate future."

Cotton growing has tended to spread north in the United States and is now grown as far north as Southern Illinois.

CHECK and Double Check

When you visited Jacksonville Savings and Loan Association during the past week, perhaps you wondered why we had several new faces in the tellers' area and throughout the lobby.

These men who you have seen are State Examiners. They come unannounced once a year to each Savings and Loan Association in the country and, in our case, they will be with us for approximately two weeks.

During the audit all the cash is counted and checked. Savings and mortgage balances are listed and proved. Our securities are analyzed and each mortgage that we have made is reviewed, including conformity with the Board of Directors policies and the law.

We believe such examinations provide added evidence to our savers that Jacksonville Savings is a desirable institution in which to have savings. It is also your assurance that the Association is conducted in strict accordance with all rules and regulations.

Greene County's Historical Group Hears Hutchens

Carrollton—"Our American Heritage" was the theme of an address given Wednesday afternoon by Judge G. K. Hutchens of this city at the closing meeting of the season of the Greene County Historical society.

In his speech Judge Hutchens discussed the constitution and the Bill of Rights. The meeting was held in the museum on the second floor of the public library.

Items of special interest which were loaned for display at the meeting Wednesday were a century-old quilt, the property of Mrs. P. J. Achenbach; a display of hat pins from the collection owned by Mrs. A. J. Shanon; and two oil paintings done by Adrian Read of this city, of the old grist mill at Rockbridge and the one-time covered bridge over Macoupin creek.

Pekin Nine Defending Champ In State Baseball Tourney

Meet Opens
Thursday P.M.
In Peoria

Peoria, Ill., May 24—(AP)—Pekin high school, defending champion at next week's state tournament, already has set a record for Illinois high school basketball competition.

And it has a good chance to set another, much more difficult mark.

When the Pekin Chinks won the Bloomington sectional tournament and qualified for the state tourney they were the only prep baseball titleholders in history to return as defending champions.

All previous title winners were knocked out of competition, in seasons following their championships, before the state meet. Thus, if Pekin is successful again this year, its two championships in a row would be almost phenomenal.

Pekin has won 19 games and lost four this year and the Chinks field practically the same team that won the 1951 crown. They're led by catcher Dick Holth, with a batting average of .518. Tom Trumphy, pitcher who has won all seven games he's hurled, and Glen Phillips, who bats .490 and is an outfielder and pitcher. As a moundsman, Phillips has won six games and lost three.

Only one of last year's starters is missing from this season's Chink nine.

First round games for the eight-team field will be played Thursday afternoon and night. The semifinals will be played Friday afternoon and the finals Friday night.

First Round Pairings For Thursday: Afternoon
Notre Dame (Quincy) vs. Woodstock sectional winner (Elgin and Waukegan play Monday for the sectional title).

Evening
Taylorville vs. Fenger (Chicago), Edwardsville vs. Morton (Cicero), Notre Dame of Quincy comes to the state tourney with one of the most impressive records, 15 straight victories. Pitcher Jim Bickhaus has accounted for nine of the triumphs and has not lost a game yet.

Notre Dame won the Canton sectional, Gorman the DuQuoin sectional, Taylorville its own sectional, Edwardsville the Granite City sectional, and Morton the Wilmington sectional. Fenger won the Chicago championship in a playoff with Wells.

Fenger won the state title in 1946. Morton copped the crown in 1943.

Dodgers Blank Phils 5-0 To Regain First

Philadelphia, May 24—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers moved back into undisputed first place in the National league tonight with a 5-0 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

A three-run double in the fifth inning by Jackie Robinson and a homer by Bobby Morgan in the seventh with none on were the telling Brooklyn pokes.

Rookie Billy Loes was the winner, allowing only five Philadelphia hits. It was Loes' fifth victory of the campaign.

The Dodgers took the field without the services of catcher Roy Campanella, who went to Temple University hospital for X-rays of his thumb injured in last night's game with the Phillies.

Russ Meyer, the Phillies' hard-luck right hander, was again a losing pitcher when Robinson clipped a fast-balling double into slippery center field with the bases loaded in the fifth inning. Rube Walker, Bobby Morgan and Pee Wee Reese scored, which added to the unearned run that Morgan scored in the first inning, gave Loes more than a comfortable cushion upon which to rely.

Indianapolis '500' Drawing Huge Throng Of Speed Worshipers

By Dale Burgess

Indianapolis, May 24—(AP)—Hot rods, motorcycles and plain family cars are rolling toward Indianapolis in a growing concentration of speed worshippers that may exceed 200,000 persons by starting time for the 36th annual 500-mile race Friday.

It's a gathering from the most remote spots on the continent and many foreign countries—and it's as bewildering to non-participants as the annual assembly of eels in the Sargasso Sea.

Some of the harder fans park their cars in line days before the race, just to get a little better spot in the infield. Many sleep in their cars, subsisting on basket lunches and vast quantities of bottled beer. Others patronize temporary rooming houses and miles of hot dog and hamburger stands.

8-10 Hour Ordeal
Once inside the 433-acre grounds of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway the crowd will have 8 or 10 hours on its hands before it scatters after the race. If it's a typical Indiana Memorial Day, the sun will be broiling hot. Clouds of exhaust vapor will roll from the track. The combined noise of 33 unmuffled race cars, bands and a never-quiet public address system will leave everybody slightly deaf.

If it's one of the unlucky "500's," there'll be explosive crashes of cars traveling more than 100 miles an hour, a nerve-stretching chorus of ambulance sirens and a rumble of huge cranes throwing the wreckage out of the path of the other racers.

These acres of people (only about 85,000 can sit in the stands) show every symptom of enjoying themselves, whether they pay $3 and get only an occasional glimpse of a race car or splash $30 for a top deck seat in one of the new steel stands.

There's no legal betting, the city's brew dispensers close for the holiday and there are no gate prizes. But orders for next year's tickets will begin pouring into the speedway office the morning after the race.

50,000 Genuine Race Fans
Russ Catlin, public relations man for the American Automobile Association's contest board, estimates there is a core of about 50,000 genuine race fans in the Indianapolis crowd. These are the people who admire the driving skill of such experts as Johnnie Parsons, Duke Nalon and Walt Faulkner and the auto enthusiasts whose prime interest is supercharges, torsion bars and the like.

The rest are there because it's the biggest event of its kind, says Catlin, who has been following the auto races 27 years. They'd be as strongly attracted by a horse race or an evangelist that drew a crowd as large.

Whether a very large proportion of the crowd actually hopes for accidents is a question argued heatedly by race fans and non-fans. The deaths of 42 drivers at the track since 1909 definitely hasn't hurt attendance.

Rasputin's famous bear hug proved too much for the popular Bull. But Bull forced the fight to three falls before losing.

Rasputin gained the first fall in 11 minutes and 30 seconds with the bear hug. Bull came back in 10 minutes and 30 seconds with a series of slams followed by a body press. Rasputin ended it after another 12 minutes and 40 seconds with another bear hug.

INCREASE PURSE
Miami, Fla., May 24—(AP)—The purse on the Florida derby at Gulfstream Park will be increased from $20,000 to $100,000 to make it the richest race in Florida history. Gulfstream Park President James Down announced today.

The race will be run the second week in March. Previous Florida highs were the $50,000 added races run annually at Hialeah race track.

O'Connor Wins Feature Of Wrestling Program

The hottest thing in the wrestling business visited Waverly Saturday night. And it took Jim O'Connor, the New Zealand sensation, just 28 minutes and 30 seconds to dispose of Fred Von Schacht in the two-fall feature of a three-match card.

Over 2,000 fans packed the new Waverly high school gymnasium to watch the action.

Billy Hickson and Walter Palmer won the tag-team opener from Rudy Kay and Whittier. And Ivan Rasputin defeated Art Bull in the three-fall semi-feature.

The big drawing card, of course, was O'Connor. And, he didn't disappoint his followers.

The somersaulting O'Connor put Von Schacht's shoulders to the mat after 15 minutes and 20 seconds with an Indian death lock. And, he ended the fray in another 13 minutes and 10 seconds with an airplane spin and a body press.

Crafty O'Connor, by far the fastest wrestler on the program, showed his versatility throughout the match. He proved particularly adept at breaking holds of the big German and his somersaulting tactics had Von Schacht completely baffled several times.

The other two matches on the card didn't lack in interest.

Rasputin's famous bear hug proved too much for the popular Bull. But Bull forced the fight to three falls before losing.

Rasputin gained the first fall in 11 minutes and 30 seconds with the bear hug. Bull came back in 10 minutes and 30 seconds with a series of slams followed by a body press. Rasputin ended it after another 12 minutes and 40 seconds with another bear hug.

31 Positions Filled For Indianapolis Run

By Dale Burgess
Indianapolis, May 24—(AP)—Thirty-one positions in the 33-car starting field for the 500-mile auto race Friday were filled today in record-smashing time trials marred by the wreck of the famous Belanger 99 car.

Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., escaped with minor injuries after hitting the concrete outer wall in the Belanger that carried him to the American Automobile Association racing championship last year.

The car, Lee Wallard's winner in the 1951 Memorial Day race, was damaged too badly to be repaired for the final time trials Sunday. Bettenhausen had been running 136 miles an hour when he lost control on the short south straightway, spun and banged into the wall three times.

Bill Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., cracked two Indianapolis Motor Speedway records in the first of the day's 24 successful qualifying runs. Seven others qualified last Saturday.

Vukovich made the 10 miles at 138.212 miles an hour in a new four-cylinder car owned by the Howard

Bull and Rasputin did almost as much fighting on the gym floor as they did in the ring.

Duo Disqualified
Whittier Whittier, the Girard villain who was performing before a number of his home town fans, had his moments during the opener, but he and Kay dropped a three-fall decision to Hickson and Palmer.

Whittier and Kay were disqualified after splitting the first two falls. Whittier became a bit too eager and jumped Hickson while he was still out of the ring.

Kay and Palmer traded the first two falls. Kay pinned Palmer after 26 minutes and 10 seconds with a body press. Kay and Whittier had taken turns battering Palmer around the ring for about five minutes before that.

Palmer turned the tables and won the second fall in eight minutes flat with a spinning toe hold.

Jim McMillen, former professional football star, acted as referee for the program.

TV CONTROL PLAN
Chicago, May 24—(AP)—A plan of "controlling principles" for television of 1952 college football today was announced ready for approval by the 372 members of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The NCAA's television committee disclosed it had agreed upon an operating policy which will be submitted to a mail referendum vote by the membership. A two-thirds majority is needed for approval.

The first night opener in the history of the American League was April 17, 1951 at Philadelphia. That night the A's dropped a 6 to 1 game to the Washington Senators.

Jerry Barber Running Tenth In Colonial

By Harold V. Ratliff

Fort Worth, Tex., May 24—(AP)—Lean Ray Gafford, veteran Dallas professional, easily held the lead in the $20,000 Colonial Golf tournament today as he whipped in with a one-under-par 69 for a 36-hole total of 137.

While other high placers in the first round faltered and those well back rallied, the tall, slow-talking man on whose course the national open will be played in June played steadily.

Jerry Barber finished tenth at the conclusion of the 36-hole period. The former Jacksonville golfer owns a 71-73-144 mark thus far.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., did a 68 for 140 and second place but the best round of the day was by Wee Ben Hogan, the Texan who now registers out of Palm Springs, Calif. Hogan, who disappointed with a 74 in the first round, blazed to a 67 today over the soggy 7,035-yard Colonial Country club course.

Hogan moved up to 141 and also found another old campaigner along the tournament trail alongside him. That was Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago who shot a 69 today.

And Doug Ford of Harrison, N.Y., who had a 69 in the first round, tied a two-over-par 72 today to tie Hogan and Mangrum for third place.

Amateur Joe Conrad, the North Texas State College golfer who tied Gafford for the lead in the first round with a 68, soared to 76 today and wound up with 144 for 36 holes.

Fiery Kansas Mentor Hits Eastern Bosses For Polluting Sport

"Every case of basketball fix on record has stemmed from that 'snake pit,' Madison Square Garden in New York, the father of basketball coaching Dr. Phog Allen told Illinois School for the Deaf athletes, coaches and their guests at the institution's annual banquet Saturday night.

The Kansas University mentor, called the big wind from Kansas by most east coast writers, inhaled deeply and really loosed a blast at Ned Irish and his Madison Square Garden promotions involving college teams.

"Price Is $1,000"
"The price of a fix in New York is $1,000 whether it is basketball or murder," Allen spoke out with all the rapidity and lethal sting of a machine gun.

"A New York basketball player tried to confess to a fix as far back as 1943. He was suppressed by authorities. I reported fixes in 1944 and was squealed. I am told by reliable authorities that games have been fixed in the Garden since 1935."

Allen, a self-described Kansas Hayshaker, has been coaching basketball for 43 years. The 67-year old mentor was once told by the game's inventor, Dr. Naismith, that basketball could not be coached, only played. "I took up the challenge immediately and Dr. Naismith finally conceded that I was the father of basketball coaching," Phog admitted.

Doesn't Let Up
But the sharp-tongued Jayhawk coach didn't let up on the New York officials. "The big time gamblers fix the city officials so no one will be prosecuted. Then these slick fixers move in on the boys and set up the games. And, believe me, $1,000 looks mighty big to a college boy."

"I want to coach boys who can say no 1,000 times to temptation in order to say yes once to victory," Allen, who coached Adolph Rupp at Kansas over 25 years ago, had several things to say about Kentucky, the most recently involved in case fixes. "Ralph Beard and Alex Groza approached me last year and wanted to know why my boys got such good jobs when they graduated."

"I didn't realize it then, but these two were probably reviewing their shady pasts and feeling pretty sorry. I told them that it isn't necessarily the training that we give the athletes, rather it's the type of boy we get at Kansas. I want a boy who wants an education, not something for nothing," the fiery coach stressed.

Blasts NIT At Graden
"NIT means nothing. The Garden tournament is not recognized. The only national college tournaments are the NAIB for small colleges and the NCAA for larger schools," Allen said.

Allen was accompanied to the banquet by his son-in-law John Glenn of Beardstown. It was Glenn who sent John Bischoer to Kansas ten years ago. Bischoer became an All-American cager at the Hilltop campus.

Allen concluded his spellbinding two-hour talk by telling something about his most famous All-American, Clyde Lovellette. The 6-9 center has completely rewritten the NCAA record book. He holds every college basketball record. When Phog started talking about Clyde's hook shots the banquet practically broke up and became a coaching clinic. It did end with Allen demonstrating finger-tip control and bank board English to Coach Art Yates' basketball squad.

Allen first spoke at ISD in 1931 Dr. Cloud recalls. We wonder why he hasn't been summoned back before now. Without reservation, he is the most fascinating speaker we have ever heard. It is apparent that the good Doctor has done nothing but eat, sleep and coach basketball for the past 45 years.

"Keep it simple," is Phog's coaching theme. But he lost most of us when he pivoted, charged and hooked the cowhide toward the chandeliers.

He demanded that Glenn bump into him. The Beardstown man, who very recently became Phog's son-in-law, was a bit reticent. After all, Glenn weighs 200 pounds and didn't want to knock Pop down. But Pop didn't budge when bumped. He gave Glenn a hip that staggered the younger man. It would have floored us.

Our part in the show. Got a basketball in the teeth when ordered to try to hook shot with Allen doing the guarding.

We almost overlooked this in our notes. Phog commented that Knute Rockne always wanted to coach at Sing Sing. "That's one place where the alumni never want to return."

We could fill these pages with talk—both small and big—with the inimitable Dr. Allen. But it's getting late. Maybe another day.

These are announcements and notes that have littered our desk all week:

Glenn Williams is organizing an American Legion baseball league in this area. He needs one more team. The loop will get rolling in another week. Most games will be played on Sunday afternoon.

The Jack Rossiter baseball school, which starts at Springfield on June 15, will have one Jacksonville boy on the roster. Kenny Wright, who pitched and played shortstop besides wielding a potent stick for Jacksonville high, has been invited to attend.

Richard Zimmerman of Pittsfield who went to the University of Illinois to play football two years ago, has wound up as manager of Ray Eliot's squad.

Ray Schremp of Jacksonville hopes that youngsters enjoyed the Little League and World Series films distributed by him throughout the schools the past few days. These films were shown in connection with a free guessing contest at Hopper's Shoe store. The contest ends May 31. Winner gets a trip to St. Louis on June 13 to see a big league game.

Introduction Of Athletics

ISD athletic squads were introduced by the Tiger coaches. It was announced that Doyle West is honorary football captain by Coach Jim Spink. Spink also introduced his track squad and revealed that Bill VanSpankeren is captain.

Doyle West and Gilbert Paul, only two seniors, are co-captains of the basketball season, said Coach Art Yates. Coach Poley Clark announced that West has also been elected baseball captain.

Three ISD athletes won four letters. They are Bill VanSpankeren, Tom Klbecka and Jack Ramsey.

The invocation was given by Edward Raffel with Paul Hoover acting as interpreter.

Stanley Kwiat, I club president, was toastmaster. Athletic Director Spike Wilson spoke shortly and presented Dr. Daniel Cloud, who introduced the speaker.

John Brady gave the response with Harold Hensley serving as interpreter.

By Bob Morris
Breathless. That's how the volatile Phog Allen left Illinois School for the Deaf students, coaches, teachers and this corner as he spoke at the banquet there Saturday night.

We had seen something of this human basketball-wisdom-spouting dynamo during a trip to Lawrence and the Kansas Relays not long ago. But we were hardly prepared when the 67-year-old hardwood doctor suddenly turned whirling dervish and showed the audience just how Clyde Lovellette does the job that made him a basketball All-American.

One minute Allen was throwing rocks at Ned Irish and his Madison Square Garden basketball promotions. The next he was tossing a basketball around the banquet room with ISD cagers. Coaches Art Yates, Jim Spink, Athletic Director Spike Wilson, son-in-law John Glenn and yours truly. He organized teams and we went through some drills.

Bob Feller Gains Revenge With 5-3 Win Over Browns

St. Louis, May 24.—(P)—Bobby Feller, evened an old score with the St. Louis Browns and Bobby Cain today by riding out a 13-hit attack that grew turbulent only once as he pitched the league-leading Cleveland Indians to a 5-3 victory.

In their last meeting a month ago Cain walked off with a 1-0 decision as both pitched one-hitters.

Today Cain was out of the game by the fifth.

Larry Doby got Feller off to a good start in the first inning with a three-run homer. Then in the fourth Feller provided what proved to be the winning run by walloping the ball atop the right field pavilion roof.

Feller was in complete control today until he tired in the ninth. Then three singles and Jim Delsing's double accounted for the Browns' three runs and Feller's shutout faded.

Car Breaks Light, Telephone Poles; Two Slightly Hurt

Two college students incurred minor injuries early Saturday night when a 1948 Plymouth convertible struck a concrete light standard and a telephone pole on West College avenue, between Prospect and Westminster streets. The standard and the pole were broken.

Earl Smith of 844 W. College avenue, an Illinois College student, was driving east on the wet pavement. He attempted to pass another car, he said, and his auto went out of control. It skidded against the curb and onto the boulevard on the north side of the street.

The police were summoned at 8:22 p.m. Officers Runkel, Leach and Stafford went to the scene.

A passing motorist took Smith and a passenger in his car, Miss Virginia Willing of MacMurray College, to Our Saviour's hospital. Dr. A. G. Wolfe attended them.

Smith had a gash on the right side of his head which required a number of sutures. His left thigh and the knuckles on his left hand were skinned. Miss Willing suffered a gash on the left side of the head. Stitches were taken to close it.

Both were released from the hospital.

A wrecker from the Morgan County Motors towed the damaged car to the Ford garage.

Merry Maids Hold Mother, Daughter Banquet At Church

The Merry Maids Sunday school class of the Northminster church held the fifth annual mother and daughter banquet in the church parlors Friday evening.

Mrs. Henry Bodensiek, toastmistress, called on Mrs. Lorene DeFratres who welcomed the guests. Mrs. Henry Souza gave the response. Mrs. Walter DeShara sang "My Mother's Eyes," accompanied by Mrs. Melvin Smith. Remarks were given by Mrs. E. H. Sheppard.

Committee Of Seven To Conduct Discussion

A committee of seven will conduct an open meeting Monday night in the South Jacksonville grade school gymnasium on a proposal to annex Consolidated School District No. 2 to Jacksonville School District No. 117. The meeting is open to all the voters in the district and is for the purpose of answering questions and discussing problems connected with a PTA-approved resolution favoring annexation.

Members of the committee who will conduct the meeting are Mrs. Lillian Heidinger and Mrs. Donald Liltler, co-chairmen, and John Becker, John Clegg, Everett G. Reynolds, Russell Rawlings and Bruce Thomson.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m., according to an announcement by the co-chairmen. It will be an informal affair in which anyone who has a question is free to speak.

Two-Thirds Of The Voters
Although the PTA carried the ball on this matter and adopted the resolution, said a spokesman of the organization, "it is not our purpose to railroad the matter through, even if we could." He pointed out that the proposal, if it is to be adopted, must have the signatures of two-thirds of the legal voters of the district before it can be considered by the Morgan county court.

"The matter is a very important one to the community," the spokesman continued, "and for this reason we want most of all to have a full attendance and frank discussion at the meeting."

It was also emphasized that the present proposal has nothing to do with proposals which have appeared from time to time asking for the

Building Trades Home Bought By Supt. Mann

Jewell A. Mann, Jacksonville's new superintendent of schools, entered the winning bid for the new one-story bungalow built by the local building trades class.

At 314 Finley street, Mann's bid, which was $19,200, topped the field in a brisk auction which attracted several bidders and several hundred onlookers, Saturday afternoon.

The auctioneers were the Middendorf brothers, who contributed their services to the event. Bidding began in the $14,000 bracket and proceeded upward at a rapid rate, eventually leaving two competitors, Supt. Mann and Clarence Lukeman. Mann's final bid was $50 above Lukeman's.

Interviewed by a reporter later, Mann said, "I am very fortunate to be able to move my family into such a well appointed house right away. We had been very much concerned about the problem of housing after I accepted the position of superintendent here. I have acquired a beautiful place and the pleasure of owning it is all the greater from knowing it is all the building trades class which constructed it."

Before and after the sale, the residence was open for public inspection. It is a one-story dwelling with floors of clear red oak. The living room is dominated by a large fireplace and mirror, while the kitchen is fully equipped with built-in cabinets and the latest fixtures. Three bedrooms, a bath and a garage complete the new property.

This is the latest in a series of residences, most of them constructed on Finley street, which the building trades class, under the direction of Elbert A. Lair, has built in the past several years.

Others who contributed time and services to the project were Attorney Harry G. Story, and the Morgan County Building and Construction Trades Council.

Members of the building trades class this year were Nathan Arenz, Charles Cochran, Donald Covey, Kircher, Dalton, Robert Hall, Byronrey, James Mason, Norman Mason, Leon Preston, Vernon Shure, Frank Turner, Fred Walker and Oscar

Alias Basil Willing By Helen McCloy

Copyright 1951 by Helen McCloy. Reprinted through permission of the publisher, Random House, Inc. Distributed by M.E.A. Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective who had been posing as Basil Willing, is murdered and a woman who employed him, aged and blind Katherine Shaw, dies under mysterious circumstances. Both deaths occurred in connection with a dinner party at the home of Dr. Zimmer, who is a psychiatrist as is Basil Willing. In spite of the deaths, Dr. Zimmer resumes his gathering which is held to study some of his patients. Basil asks Miss Shaw's secretary, Charlotte Dean to attend and report on what occurs. Late that night, Perdita Lawrence, who attended the dinner with her father, Stephen Lawrence, calls Basil, telling him that her father is dying. Basil has managed to bring Lawrence out of cocaine poisoning. Lawrence revives only after Basil says he must do so for his daughter's sake.

XXIV

AFTER an hour Basil Willing came out of the room and shut the door. Perdita sat on the top step of the stairs, eyes questioning. He nodded and heard her soft exhalation of relief. They went down in silence.

She brought coffee from the kitchenette to the table before the fireplace. "You saved his life."

"No. You saved his life." She looked at him stonily. "You're trying to make me feel comfortable. But I shall never feel comfortable again."

"Why not?"

She turned away. "I can't help feeling it was my fault somehow."

"Tell me what happened before you called. You both dined at Dr. Zimmer's."

Her startled eyes searched his face. "How did you know?"

"Miss Dean told me the Friday dinners were being resumed. Were they all there—the Yorkes, the Cannings, Brinsley Shaw and Miss Dean, Dr. Zimmer and Mrs. Mann?"

"Yes."

"Did anything happen out of the ordinary?"

"No. Father seemed just as usual."

"Wasn't he excited? Gay? Something like that?"

"A little, when we got home."

But no more than a good dinner with cocktails and wine. He went up to bed and I stayed alone reading a book. I heard a crash overhead that sounded as if he'd fallen and I ran upstairs. He was unconscious on the floor beside his bed. I managed to drag him up onto the bed and tried to revive him with spirits of ammonia. He didn't stir. There have been times, I wanted the end to come quickly for his sake. But when I saw him lying so still, so far beyond my reach, it seemed all wrong. I tried to get my own doctor, but he was out. Then I called you."

"Is there a history of weak hearts in your family?"

As she looked at him, the answer came to her. "You're thinking of that fainting spell I had at Rosamund York's. It's the first time I've ever done anything like that."

"Just what is the matter with your father?"

PERDITA'S lips moved. For a moment no sound came. Then she spoke the word Basil expected to hear.

"And there's no hope. By the time the doctor got out, it was too late for X-ray treatment."

Basil sighed. "Tonight your father asked me why he should make an effort to recover. I told him that if anything happened to him suddenly like this you would carry a burden of guilt all through the rest of your life. It was for your sake he found the courage to rouse himself. Now it's up to you to see that he never regrets it. You must have courage as great as his, perhaps greater."

Perdita's lips were white. "I won't fail him again."

"Has your father any enemies?"

For the first time since Basil came there she smiled. "Father's never taken anything from anyone. He's always given. Why do you ask me a question like that?"

"The moment I saw your father tonight, I knew he'd been poisoned with some opium derivative. I suspect cocaine because I know he had cocaine in his possession. Jack Duggan died of cocaine poisoning after meeting the same group of people you met at Dr. Zimmer's tonight. The coincidence is more than curious."

PERDITA leaned back wearily in her chair and closed her eyes. "Coincidences do happen. Father's been taking cocaine for a month."

"So had Miss Shaw."

Her eyes opened in a flash of fear. "You mean . . ."

"If it were not for Duggan's death, I should assume that what happened tonight was either accident or attempted suicide. But I can't reconcile that with Duggan's death. Can you?"

"I—don't know anything about Duggan."

"Has your father any property that you or anyone else will inherit?"

She shook her head. "He has no property."

"Now I'm going to ask you something that may seem irrelevant: What did Rosamund York mean when she told you about two months ago, 'You will notice only one thing out of the ordinary there—a certain number of us never speak of the future'?"

"She—I . . ." Perdita pushed her hair back from her forehead. "I'm tired. I can't think. Let me talk to you some other time, Dr. Willing. Please."

A shrill note sounded four times in a monotone, then ascended half the scale and ended in a throaty chuckle. The trill was repeated, echoed. A dozen other treble notes joined the invisible chorus until the world seemed full of rippling, fluttering sound, half chatter, half song, with a dash of whistle. Outdoors, the sun-worshipping birds were hailing the first intimation of dawn.

Basil looked at her directly. "Did you give your father an overdose of cocaine? And then change your mind, at many mercy-killers do, when he seemed to be dying?"

"No."

More than 1,000 lawyers from all parts of the state will gather at the Leland Hotel in Springfield on June 3, 4, 5 and 6 for the Diamond Jubilee celebration and annual meeting of the Illinois State Bar Association.

The state bar association will honor the candidates for admission to the bar at a luncheon prior to the ceremonies. Another event will be the Senior Counselor ceremony on Thursday, June 5, in which those lawyers who have practiced in Illinois for fifty years or more will be honored.

Joseph H. Hinshaw, Chicago, president of the association, will give the principal address at the opening session of the meeting on Thursday. Chief Justice Joseph E. Daily of the Illinois Supreme Court will preside.
